We make the mistake of referring to a specific computer program as a tool. . . .
Each tool becomes several tools and each requires an underlying body of knowledge for it to be used successfully.
And there is very little that is user friendly.

> Frank Romano
> Too Many Tools, in Color Publishing
> (Volume 1, Number 4, Winter 1991)

TUGBOAT

COMMUNICATIONS OF THE TEX USERS GROUP