New Features in TeXShop

Richard Koch

University of Oregon

`koch@math.uoregon.edu`

March 11, 2003

Abstract   TeXShop is a front-end for TeX on Mac OS X, using Gerben Wierdas distribution of TeXLive-teTeX to do the heavy lifting. I'll talk about new features in the program—that is, features that dont exist in November as I write this abstract. I'll also ask for bugs and feature requests, and either promise to fix and implement them or else explain why I can't.